FUND PERFORMANCE

FUND MANAGEMENT COMMENT

November's increase of 0.25% in the repo rate, decided upon by the SARB's Monetary Policy Committee, does assist the return of your fund's benchmark ... but by only about 0.02% a month. So, it falls to us to continually try to add alpha. We were again successful in December, adding considerable alpha in absolute terms but even more so when measured as a percentage of the fund's total return for the month.

The standout aspect of South Africa's fixed interest markets in December was the astonishingly strong performance of long-dated inflation-linked bonds (prohibited by your mandate). This was driven by the spread of the omicron variant of coronavirus which led to an increase in the expected inflation rate. This strikes us as a little odd, since omicron is one of the milder variants. That said, the view of the Fed (shared by the SARB) that the surge in inflation that began in mid-2020 would prove to be "transitory", is a view that has increasingly less credibility.
